

In My BackYard:

A photograph of a man in a dark suit and tie, leaning over a garden bed. In the background, a woman in a brown top and light-colored skirt is kneeling on the grass, and two young children are nearby. The garden is lush with various plants, including tall purple flowers and green foliage. The scene is set outdoors with trees and a fence in the background.

I can make a difference.

There is no “they” to blame.

It is where I reflect how I view the world:
disposable or sustainable, an adversary or a companion, to conquer or to nurture.
